Remote Access to e-Mail:

E-mail accounts can be accessed from home or any other remote location via the internet through http://www.umail.utah.edu or through the Applications Portal, http://secure.med.utah.edu using the same username and password you use when accessing e-mail at work.

Your username for u-mail is: U#####@umail.utah.edu
Please note that this is different from your email address.
Contact the IS Office if you do not know your username and password.

Encryption:

The University of Utah is committed to the protection of confidential information. Confidential information includes protected health information (PHI), financial identifiers (SSN, driver’s license number, etc.) and other personally identifiable information that, if lost or stolen, create the potential for identity theft or risk of harm to the individual. All mobile devices and media, such as laptops, USB drives, tablets, and cameras used for University business must be encrypted. Contact the IS Office for instructions on how to encrypt mobile devices.

Cloud Storage:

The University of Utah has a BAA in place with box.com for cloud storage of PHI and other department data. Box is the only authorized cloud storage provider for storing department data. All employees are provided with a free 1 TB account. To get started, just open a web browser and point it to box.utah.edu.

The login for box is your university email address, this will redirect you to the cis page so you can authenticate with your unid credentials.
