

University of Utah Department of Pediatrics

2023 Employee Professional Development Classes

The Employee Professional Development Program is designed to offer tools to staff that enable them to perform to the best of their ability and promote personal growth.

Date	Time	Location	Presenter
Improv for Professional &amp; Personal Growth An introduction to performance-based Improvisation and how it can improve your professional and personal life. We'll explore the rules of improv, what they mean, and how they can apply to work and home life. The skills presented in this introductory session can help professionals to better connect with their peers, colleagues, superiors, partners, and anyone else they might encounter in their fields
Wednesday, May 17th	11:00 – 1:00 PM	In-Person	Clint Erikson, Instructor	register here
* attendance is capped at 12 attendees
Communication that Influences Good communication sets the stage for professional excellence
Thursday, June 22nd	10:00 – 11:00 AM	Zoom	Amy Emrazian, University HR	register here
* attendance is capped at 40 attendees
An Introduction to Crucial Conversations An introduction to the classic concepts of "Crucial Conversations" and how you can find better solutions, decision-making processes, increased commitment, and better relationships – not "my way" or "your way," but "our way."
Wednesday, July 12th	11:00 – 1:00 PM	Zoom	Jeanine Wilson, Instructor	register here
* attendance is capped at 40 attendees

Classes will be added on an ongoing basis - check the intranet for updates.

We recommend using your University email to create an Eventbrite account to register for classes.

If a class is full, we encourage you to join the waitlist. You will be notified if spots become available or additional sessions are added.